

Energy Transition Impacts on your business

Energy transition describes the global shift away from fossil fuels towards meeting global energy demand through a smart and efficient energy eco-system producing sustainable greenhouse gas emissions. Energy transition is affecting all businesses – not just those traditionally active in the energy sectors.

Energy transition encompasses a number of prevailing and interlinking themes, and the impacts across industries are broad.

Click on your relevant industry below for an overview of key energy transition trends and issues impacting your sector.

